Transforming the Aging Experience

I wish to have Nerf guns

Benjamin, 7
leukemia

Benjamin's medical journey began when he started to suffer from night sweats and bruising all over his body. He had frequent severe headaches and vomiting, and his family sought a medical opinion on Benjamin's condition. Benjamin's parents brought him to the emergency room for blood work, and on Halloween, instead of dressing up and collecting candy like many other children, Benjamin received the news that he had leukemia. Benjamin responded well to treatment, and although he frequently experiences a lot of pain, he is happy and loves to play!

Benjamin likes the color blue, playing with dogs, and studying math in school. Benjamin is also a fan of playing Minecraft and going to the park to look for bugs.

Benjamin's first idea for a wish was to be a policeman, so that he could investigate and have the ability to save people. He also considered wishing to visit Hawaii, where he could see different types of fish and crab while relaxing on the beach. But ultimately, Benjamin decided that his most heartfelt wish was to have Nerf guns, so that he could play with his friends! Benjamin was so excited to see all of the magic that was in store for him and loved making new memories of his special wish journey with his friends and family by his side.
