

I wish to meet my favorite athlete

Daniel, 9
brain tumor

Daniel's medical journey began after being in and out of the hospital with stomach issues. Doctors told his parents that it was just an acid reflux; however, his parents noticed that one of his eyes was looking in a different direction. At that point, they knew something was really wrong and him for more testing. Daniel was admitted to the hospital, where a CT scan showed he had a brain tumor. He underwent surgery to remove the tumor and is on his way to recovery.

Daniel is a very fun-loving young boy who likes to ride his bike and play soccer with his friends any chance he gets. He enjoys racing games and loves to play with his red Ferrari Hot Wheel toy. Most of all, Daniel loves the Green Bay Packers and their quarterback. Nothing brings him more joy than watching the athlete throw touchdowns on Sundays.

Daniel wishes to meet his Green Bay hero in person. He envisions being on Lambeau Field as they laugh and play catch together. Daniel plans to wear his Packers jersey and can't wait to have his favorite athlete autograph it.
